NIGHT FIREMAN AT FACTORY HELD AS SUSPECT IN CRIME

FERTILIZER PLANT IS BELIEVED SCENE OF GRUESOME DEATH.

TO COVER THEFT?

No Evidence of Superintendent Ever Leaving Place of Work in Detroit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Detroit, Mich., March 26.—(By Associated Press.)—A theory that Joseph A. Campbell, superintendent of a reduction company, who disappeared Feb. 10, was slain at this body destroyed by running it through machinery used in the manufacture of fertilizer, county authorities Tuesday determined George Reynolds, night fireman at the plant.

Investigation is said to have disclosed that the machinery in the plant was in operation from 11 p. m. until 5 a. m. on the night of Feb. 10, contrary to custom.

It is declared Campbell and Reynolds were alone in the plant that night and that no evidence can be found that the superintendent ever left the place.

Deputy Sheriff Frank C. Longman, investigating the case, expressed the belief that Campbell was slain because he possessed information that machinery is alleged to have been stolen from the plant.

FARM BUREAU MASS MEETING IS POSTPONED

The Farm Bureau mass meeting scheduled to have been held in the Rock county court house, Thursday, March 29, has been postponed because of the condition of the rural highways.

The meeting will be held later when farmers can reach the city with less trouble, according to Secretary R. C. Thompson.

Office of the Rock County Farm Bureau and County Agent R. T. Glasco have been busy the last week issuing the farm exchange list and preparing the annual report booklet to be sent to all farmers in Rock county.

SUPERIOR IS WHIPPED BY FIERCE STORM

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Superior—A severe wind storm which blew down signs, wires and storm windows, coupled with a hail storm, lasting from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., caused considerable damage in Superior and vicinity Monday night.

Walking on the streets was almost impossible and several women were swept from their feet by the 50-mph gale. Windows were blown in, telephone service was greatly affected and several sheds and barns were blown down.

Automobile traffic was virtually impossible and machines traveling north and south skidded about and almost turned over at the slippery street intersections.

Railroad dispatchers declared the wind was confined to Superior and surrounding territory and that towns outside the range reported normal conditions.

ECONOMIC ISSUES TO BE UPPERMOST IN '24, IS BELIEF

HARDING SEES VOTERS SWAYED BY COST OF LIVING.

OIL, SAYS BRYAN

European Economic Conference, Says Cox; Taxation, Is Daugherty Belief.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

St. Augustine, Fla.—Assuming that President Harding is renominated, in accordance with Attorney General Daugherty's prediction, what will be the issues of 1924?

This question has been propounded in the presidential party again and again, and the answers are as varied as the political discussion a week ago began.

Mr. Daugherty says taxation will be paramount. Former Governor James M. Cox, democrat, says it will be the European economic conference and the Harding administration's failure to help American farmers and producers by supplying an export market. William Jennings Bryan thinks it will be special privilege, the policies exemplified by ship subsidy, and he adds a belief that Senator La Follette's charges concerning the oil situation will play a prominent part in the campaign.

Economic, Says Harding.

President Harding himself is of the opinion that the campaign will turn entirely on economic issues. He believes the election will be swayed in 1924 as it has been in the past on the question of whether there is to be a return to a normal living wage. Rarely has it happened that an ad-

The bill would prohibit manufacturers from granting any person a special price or exclusive right to handle his product.

M. O. Mount was to speak for Janesville. Others in the party are: A. P. Young, L. A. Merckham, Boyd Gardner, Charles Chase, Glenn Chase, R. E. Winger, Louis Levy, R. F. Buggs, W. ### HE HAD A CORNER IN PIGGLY-WIGGLY

Blaine to Face Issues Squarely in His Message

EMPHATIC EXPLANATION OF TAX STAND IS EXPECTED.

SHIFTS BURDENS

Followers Believe Strong Move Will End Opposition Measures in Both Houses.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—Governor Blaine will go before a joint meeting of the houses of the legislature Wednesday morning with a special message which, it is reported on good authority, will be a pointed and emphatic explanation of his stand on the tax problems, highways, national guard, economy and prohibition.

The governor will carry out his announced intention of laying a definite tax proposal before the legislature. This message, it became known Tuesday, solves the problem raised by the demand for repeal of the personal property offset to the income tax. The governor has more than enough readjustment of rates on individuals and corporations than has heretofore been attempted.

This measure will raise $2,000,000 from incomes, transferring $1,000,000 more tax than either the Dahl or Sedgwick bills, from real and personal property to incomes, and is so adjusted that the governor believes no person or industry will be unduly burdened.

The governor, it is reported, will ask for a one-man tax commission to look into the present three-man commission.

He is expected to supplement his recent special message on the National guard with a special statement on the amount he believes should be appropriated to that institution. He probably will stand by the conclusion of his former message that the guard can be maintained at an expense of less than $300,000 annually.

Real Fund Readjustment.

The highway problem will be touched upon with a demand for economy in expenditures and a readjustment of the present system of raising funds.

Blaine's economy will be urged in government affairs, it is believed, while the prohibition question will be dealt with specifically.

Governor Blaine, according to reports, will make recommendations that are directly to the point and more important than contained in any previous communication of his. It is said to permit of no misunderstanding. The comprehensive fashion with which the governor deals with the tax problem will be a new departure for him, a substitute plan, his followers believe.

John Foster Is Badly Hurt When Crushed by Truck

John Foster, 512 Center avenue, sustained several broken ribs and other injuries in an unusual accident at the Samson shop shortly after 6 p. m. Monday. Mr. Foster was passing through the blacksmith shop on his way out of the building and was brought in by a truck that had been brought in for the night and was standing still, when it was struck by a second truck. Mr. Foster was pinned between the first truck and the wall. His cries brought other employees to the scene. A physician was called and attended to his injuries, after which he was removed to his home. He was suffering great pain, Tuesday, and physicians had not yet determined the full extent of the injuries. Mrs. Foster is ill as a result of the shock.

$150 LOSS IN ROOF FIRE IN 4TH WARD

Damage of over $100 to $150 was caused by a roof fire at the home of John Brueher, 318 Galena street, Monday, which he says was caused by sparks from a building fire. There is a dispute as to whether or not the fire was due to a crack in the chimney of the Brecher home. The fire department was called and while 400 feet of hose was laid, it was unnecessary to use it as chemicals and hand-pumps extinguished the blaze. In fighting the fire in the attic, Herbert Flannery, fireman at No. 2 station, was stunned for a minute when he touched a live electric wire but suffered no ill effects.

Woman on Stand in $5,000 Case

Showing decided evidence of suffering from nervous trouble, her legs and right arm shaking, and her head swaying at times, Mrs. Ida Greenwood, Beloit, testified Tuesday morning in the Rock county circuit court as the plaintiff in a $5,000 malpractice suit against Dr. F. F. Shinnick and W. J. Allen.

The fingers of her right hand stiff, Mrs. Greenwood could not bend them, and demonstrated to the jury that she could not raise the arm above her head or even to the level of her shoulder. She described the pain she has suffered since the wrist was broken, and said she could not do any work. Many times in the night it has pained her so much that she has called her husband to massage it, she testified.

On cross examination it was brought out that for several years she has suffered from "trembling nervousness" when she became excited. She testified that a year after Dr. Shinnick concluded his work on her arm, she had her teeth extracted.

Believed to Have Fainted.

Much testimony concerning the woman's physical condition is expected to be given when the defense opens its case. A thorough physical examination of the plaintiff was given by a group of seven physicians after adjournment, Monday night, and it is said to have disclosed that she is suffering from palsy, which is incurable.

Dr. Charles E. Smith told of the visit of Mrs. Greenwood to his office asking if something couldn't be done for her hand and arm. He said he had told her that aside from massage and manipulation there was nothing to do, and that there was not much possibility of it becoming a useful hand. He declared the proper treatment for an ordinary break was flexing of the fingers a few days after it occurred and that it was not proper treatment to wait four weeks for her hand and arm. ## BARBERRY SPREAD CUT FARM COSTS

FROM OLD NURSERY ADVISES MC NALL

Origin of Wild Barberries
Around Milton Jct., Traced
Back to 1868.

An investigation of the source of an extensive growth of common barberry near Milton Junction has given the federal barberry eradication forces an explanation of the presence of so many of these bushes in Wisconsin.

As the barberry, which has been convicted of spreading black stem rust to grain, is not an American plant its prevalence in this state has astonished government agents. It has been urged its destruction as a means of reducing rust losses, which average 50,000,000 per year in the spring wheat area.

Push Campaign
The federal barberry campaign has been in progress in thirteen central states for the past five years. In that time 3,350,000 barberries have been found and 2,755,000 eradicated in Wisconsin alone. In all of the other states combined. Recently the government experts conducted an investigation to determine why Wisconsin has so many of these outlawed bushes. The reason seems to be that barberries were brought to nearly all of the early settlements by the pioneers and that the bushes found in the state are hospitable. The original shrubs not only persisted in a remarkable manner but spread to wood lots, pasture lands and river bottoms until from a few hundred to more than a million bushes were found in the vicinity of old plantings.

The origin of the wild barberries around Milton Junction is an example. The story of the shrub is told in the annual report of Wm. A. Walker, state leader of the federal barberry eradication forces, who is stationed at Madison. It appears that J. C. Plumb, one of the state's first nurserymen, established a business at Milton Junction in 1868. Among the shrubs which he offered for sale were the common barberry. He set out many of these bushes about his place and sold them to customers who desired to ornament their yards. In the pioneer days the barberry was supposed to have certain medicinal qualities and its berries were valued by housewives for making jam and jelly. At that time, of course, its connection with stem rust was not suspected.

Birds Carry Seed
When Mr. Plumb abandoned his nursery no effort was made to dispose of the plants. As a result the barberries continued to flourish. Birds carried the seeds to dozens of locations in the vicinity and wild bushes soon appeared and multiplied. Potentially, it is extremely difficult to round them all up when they searched Rock county in the course of their farm-to-farm survey of the state and still find it necessary to keep an eye on the area because of the possibility that sprouts will develop from parts of the roots left in the ground when the bushes were eradicated.

C. C. TO BULLETIN MEETINGS, HOPING TO AVOID CONFLICTS
To aid clubs and other organizations of the city to avoid setting dates that conflict with other things going on in Janesville, the Chamber of Commerce will publish a bulletin board in its outer office. Notices of all events will be posted upon it. It is the hope of the Chamber that every organization of the city will notify it when setting a date so duplications may be avoided as much as possible.

WANT ELECTRICIANS LICENSED BY STATE

Licensing of electricians for maintenance of wiring standards under the new state code was one of the items for the state expressed at the annual Wisconsin Utilities convention at Milwaukee. William R. Schmidley, manager of the Janesville Electric company said Monday. He returned Saturday from Milwaukee. G. E. Blakesley of the same company and J. W. Wortendyke of the New Gas Light company, attended. Mr. Schmidley presided at the bi-monthly meeting of the allied local executive organization of the Wisconsin River Power company held prior to the convention.

NEED EXTRA DIRT FOR SCHOOL GROUNDS

With a large hole in the high school is anxious to have ashes and dirt dumped on the lot north of the building, but there are certain rules that must be observed. Any one who has a dirt dump must first see E. K. Hubbard, head janitor, secure permission and information from him as to where to dump it. Many have been dumping ashes too close to the sidewalk, where they do no good and make a poor sight.

BIG STATE ISSUES STILL HANG FIRE

Matheson Hopes for Adjournment, May 18, But Fears it Impossible.

With highly important legislative matters still to be acted upon, and the variety of minor bills continuing to pile up, the Wisconsin legislature has a full program of work. The tentative date for adjournment has been set for May 18, according to Rock county representatives. The two outstanding issues are on taxation and the legislation to be followed in raising funds for highways.

"I would be very glad if the legislature could adjourn by May 18, but I do not believe it is possible," is the expression of Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville.

The prohibition issue will have a showdown on April 11. The bill that would amend the heart of the Sevenson law, relating to search and seizure, has been argued before the committee and postponed by a vote of five to four. Assemblyman Matheson has introduced an agreement with other legislators for putting the prohibition enforcement questions before the assembly on April 11. Consequently considerable fireworks will be expected.

City Against "Gas" Tax
Among those to appear in Madison on Wednesday when the highway revenue raising bill is considered will be City Attorney Roger Cunningham and other city officials. These two bills—253-S and 254-S—deal with the proposed taxing of automobiles on the weight schedule and a two-cent tax on gasoline.

"We consider the proposed law is unfair to the city and city residents in that the city must pay a great part of the revenue and none of the money is returned to the cities," declared the city attorney. Such a law would impose an unreasonable burden on city residents. No one will argue that the rural land owners should pay for highways the same as the city residents, but the cities should receive a proportionate return on the funds paid in to the state.

Interest in the program for bovine tuberculosis eradication has centered in the substitute bill agreed upon by many health and farm organizations which will be presented to Senator Schuman, Tuesday. It will be known as the Schuman bill. Rumor has it that there will be changes in the bill, but the livestock sanitary board.

County Nurse Optional
After a checkered career there has been a lot of talk in the assembly making it optional with the county boards on the hiring of a county nurse.

For county sportsmen have taken an considerable interest in the proposed fish and game laws with special attention to legislation on the sealing of rough fish out of Koskoning. These bills are due for a hearing, Wednesday.

Assemblyman Matheson stated Monday that an effort would be made to tack on a saving clause to protect land owners having property in an already organized drainage district.

Laws have been passed which discontinue the present drainage system. Expectations are that the legislature will adjourn Wednesday afternoon for the Easter period.

CITY AVERAGES HIGH ON U. S. SECURITIES

The seventh federal district, in which Janesville is located, had the largest sale of treasury savings certificates during the year 1922 of any district, according to figures just received by Postmaster J. J. Cunningham. The amount sold was more than $20,000,000, while the nearest rival was the fourth district, which includes New York and other large eastern cities. Through the local office, $75,000 of the stamps was sold. Southern Wisconsin raised $3,000,000, or $1.84 per capita, the second highest average of five districts, and northern Indiana being more than $3.40. The sale is still being pushed and it is hoped to make even better records during 1923. The certificates offer splendid saving opportunities, which will be explained at the local office.

CANDIDATES FOR COUNCIL HAVE NAMES ROTATED

Although rotation of names of candidates on election ballots is almost a universal practice, there are many unaware of how the system works and who will be wondering why the ballot they are given at the polls April 2 is not exactly the same as that published. The names are rotated by precincts in order to give all candidates a chance to be at the top of the list, or near it, in at least one precinct.

Sample ballots in the hands of City Clerk E. J. Sartell show how the rotation will show out this year. For instance, in the first precinct of the First ward, the name of C. S. Starwood will head the list of 15 for councilman. In the second precinct his name will be at the bottom of the list, while L. J. Cronin will be at the top and so on, in alphabetical order.

In the first precinct of the Second ward John J. Dulla will come first; in the second precinct, George H. Bess; in the third, David L. Johnson; in the fourth, with Boyd C. Gardner and A. J. Gibbons topping the group in the two precincts of the South; in the fifth John C. Harlow's name will be first; Sixth, Leroy D. Horn; Seventh, George A. Jacobs. The five remaining candidates' names will not appear at the top in any of the precincts.

Each elector may vote for seven of the 15.
Baptist Church Has Kindergarten
A department for caring for children while their mothers attend church services has been instituted by the First Baptist church, 14 South Jackson street. It is in charge of Miss Leah Durfee, this city, a recent graduate of the kindergarten department of the Milwaukee normal school. She will also care for children at church night of the church every Thursday night.

CARRIER FORCE OF LOCAL P. O. IS CUT

New Order's Rigid Curtailment of Expenses Throughout U. S.

Due to the failure of the efficiency appropriation bill in the last congress, postoffices all over the country will have to cut down on their service and expense until July 1, when a new fiscal year starts, and additional funds are at hand. The Janesville postoffice is among them, and here it will be doubly hard to cut down expense, because of the rapidly increasing mails.

There will be but one main change here, and that will start April 2, when the 15 city routes will be condensed into 14. This will be done by adding a small bit to the route of the carrier, L. J. Cronin, who will be at the top and so on, in alphabetical order.

In the first precinct of the Second ward John J. Dulla will come first; in the second precinct, George H. Bess; in the third, David L. Johnson; in the fourth, with Boyd C. Gardner and A. J. Gibbons topping the group in the two precincts of the South; in the fifth John C. Harlow's name will be first; Sixth, Leroy D. Horn; Seventh, George A. Jacobs. The five remaining candidates' names will not appear at the top in any of the precincts.

Each elector may vote for seven of the 15.
Baptist Church Has Kindergarten
A department for caring for children while their mothers attend church services has been instituted by the First Baptist church, 14 South Jackson street. It is in charge of Miss Leah Durfee, this city, a recent graduate of the kindergarten department of the Milwaukee normal school. She will also care for children at church night of the church every Thursday night.

Band in Concert at School Apr. 8

First concert of the season under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at the new high school auditorium Sunday, April 8. The Bower City band will provide the program. On April 22 the Macdonald club will arrange the program. On May 6 the orchestra from the school for the blind and the Trinity church choir boys will give the concert.

Miss Janesville Says: FAMOUS EXPLORERS BOOKED BY C. OF C.

A man with an eye for color says he thinks the battle scars being shown in local store windows this week look just like the paint cloth that the artist dries his brushes on.

Merchants on South Main and South Bluff streets are paying more attention to the trimming of their windows. When one was asked the reason, he replied: "The opening of the new high school on South Main street is bringing a regular stream of boys and girls past my place. Most of them always look in the windows. There is nothing like putting things in show that will attract them for they will go home and tell their parents about them. I think if other merchants would do the same thing, they would find their sales picking up."

Here's a plan that some persons hit upon for beating the Janesville Public Library. If your book is overdue, several days that might amount to all of 10 cents, speak up to the librarian real brazenly.

"Why, I had that book renewed." Then when she asks when and with whom, look carefully around the library, make sure that there is only one librarian in the building, and then conclude the interlude: "With one of the other ladies." This may cause the librarian in charge to doubt your word but what's that to saving a few cents.

By next Friday morning, several hundred more will have seen the historic "Lighthouse." And just as one woman said, it isn't the play that she is anxious to see but she does so hate to have to say "No," when asked if she has seen it. Something like reading "Main Street."

A clerk at the new high school remarked the other day that she had not seen some of the junior high school teachers since they had begun teaching there. This is a fair indication of the size of the institution. It is something like the two men who were sitting in the gallery at the Chicago Auditorium. They wanted a drink but decided it wasn't worth going back to town for.

FAMOUS EXPLORERS BOOKED BY C. OF C.

Stefansson and Grenfell to Lecture in City Next Winter.

Two famous explorers and a war correspondent will be brought here next winter to lecture before Janesville audiences. Their presence here has been arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

They are Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, who has discovered new lands and seas in the arctic regions that have greatly enlarged man's idea of the polar regions; Dr. Wilfred Thomason Grenfell, medical missionary in Labrador and noted author of stirring books on those regions; and Maj. E. Alexander Powell, author, and during the world war a correspondent for the New York and London newspapers and magazines on the German, Belgian, French and Italian sectors. The lectures will be given in the new high school auditorium in January, February and March, 1924. Popular prices will be charged.

SPECIAL MEETING

of the Grove Cemetery Assn., March 29, 1923 at 2 p. m. at L. J. Spencer's residence. There will be a move to change the by-laws regarding the price of lots and upkeep of same. Election of officers and any other business that might be considered at the annual meeting.

Telephone Work Will Be Finished Within Ten Days

Ten days or two weeks additional work is expected to see the completion of the absorption of the Rock County Telephone company by the Wisconsin Telephone company, W. N. Cash, district manager said Monday.

The crew of 30 men which has been here for months working on the lines, taking down poles and cables, where the Rock county system duplicated the Bell lines, is nearing the end of its work.

The crew will then go to Beloit to do some underground work. Mr. Cash said that the Beloit exchange has reached its capacity and some extension work to relieve the condition and provide for accommodating the natural increase experienced each year, will probably be made.

A new telephone directory is expected to be printed the coming month and distributed about May 1.

PLAN DRIVE FOR PAINTING MAIL BOXES

A day will be started soon at the local postoffice to have all mail boxes on rural routes painted. It is a ruling of the office, and offices all over the country, that service must be given wherever the boxes are weather-proof, but the national department is making an effort to have boxes better appearing. It is suggested that patrons paint the boxes white, with black lettering. On the annual inspection during April, local officials will investigate the matter and determine how many patrons are in favor of this move.

Sarah Bernhardt.

The stage has darkened and the curtain of eternity been rung down. Scarpa, slain a thousand times by the heroine of La Tosca, has been avenged at last. She who ran the whole gamut of human emotions, she who could recite the alphabet to make it speak a varied language of hate, love, fear, sorrow, joy, scorn, revulsion, passion, despair, mockery, contempt and cunning, running the whole scale and missing no note, will no longer summon these visions of the soul, to play upon us as a musician manipulates the strings of his instrument. Age meant nothing to her. She has been dying before. Frail of body, almost attenuated, when she came first to America she wrapped us about her with admiration for her genius, and has outlived a multitude who saw her then. That she loved her France and came here to see us in 1917, when she toured the country to aid the fund for the wounded soldiers of her La Belle, is remembered gratefully. She came then at 72, a transfigured Bernhardt, still vigorous, still drinking at the Fountain of Youth, chastened somewhat by great sorrow and suffering, but still the Divine Sarah.

Hugo and Sardou, Rostand and Dumas; Shakespeare and the more moderns, provided for her vehicles for her genius. "Only an actress," died on the lips when one had seen Bernhardt. She was more—she was the living, inspiring embodiment of the human souls which dwell within the women—and men—she portrayed. Magda, Fedora La Tosca, L'Alceste, Theodora, and Jeanne d'Arc, not Bernhardt, walked the stage. 'C'est fini.

Mr. Clarence Saunders with his Piggly Wiggly store seems to be having a highly to piggy time to collect.

A Sea Burial

Gone to the bottom of the sea! It does seem a pity yet fitting to this die. We hark back to the demand that the old frigate Constitution be saved from the dismantlers, and she was. You remember that poem—"Go tear her tattered ensign down!" Look up that call to patriotism and renew a great episode in American history. It seems but yesterday that we were giving homage to Captain Robley D. Evans, "Fighting Bob," a real fighter, the original "Fighting Bob" and no counterfeit, who dared and defied the Chilean government and saved us from a war. They sunk the Iowa deep in the sea, gave the old battle ship a decent burial as became her rank and station. The Iowa was our great hope in the Spanish American war. "Fighting Bob" said himself that alone she could lick the entire Spanish navy. She was in at the death of Cervera's fleet and rode high in the loyal hearts of a nation happy over the end of that menace. But she had grown old and useless. She was no longer the grim power of twenty-five years ago. They took her far to the south, to Panama bay, and to the echo of the high powered explosives and the strains of the Star Spangled Banner by the band of the Maryland, the Iowa sank under the waves. Her old captain had gone to the last deck muster long ago. And next will be the Oregon, another famous battle ship, now rusting to death in the navy yard at Bremerton.

A returned California tourist says the "air is like wine." Atmospheric bootlegging?

Maine's governor has vetoed the maternity act passed to accept the Sheppard-Towner law, "because it is an unwarranted invasion by the Federal government of the sovereign state of Maine and *** because it infers that the state of Maine cannot and will not properly care for those of its mother and children who need assistance." All of which reasons are clear and valid. Maine points the way to halt the fads and bureaucracy with which we are being saddled all the time.

Andrew Jackson's day was not celebrated to any extent by the democrats this year. Andrew, with his ideas of economy and constitutional government is not so popular with the party which came into being with him. "To the victor belong the spoils," his famous utterance, is the only one with an appeal.

BURNING COAL DUST

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington.—One of these days, in the not distant future, there is a possibility that coal dust destined for use in huge power plants and industrial operations will be transported in air tight cars instead of in common gondolas. Strange as this idea may seem, there is a sound argument for the supposition, for there is a decided trend toward the use of finer coal and it is not at all beyond the range of possibility that powdered coal will be much sought-after fuel within a few years. And in hauling powdered coal, a type of railroad car similar to the tank car, but fitted under air pressure, might be called into use.

Coal operators are not without interest in the tendency toward the use of finer and finer coal. The problem has been widely discussed in coal magazines by experts, and they are wondering if the practice will advance so far that the mining officials will be interested more in getting fine coal than in procuring lump. Should this come about, the whole operation of mining coal would probably be revolutionized, as well as the methods of transportation.

It has been only a comparatively short time since the introduction of the mechanical stoker, furnishing as it did a market for an otherwise waste product. Now the stoker has created a demand for sluck, and sluck has long been a waste product on the hands of coal producers. It had been piled in huge heaps at the mine as the lump coal was marketed. Although the cement industry has been using sluck in pulverized form for a number of years, with the coming of the mechanical stoker this material assumed a sudden value, because the stoker could handle it easily. Now with the increasing trend toward the use of powdered coal other possibilities are introduced.

Pulverized coal has been used by the cement industry for about twenty-five years, or since the development of the rotary kiln in which the raw materials for cement manufacture are burned. It is estimated that over 5,500,000 tons of pulverized coal were burned at cement plants in this country last year. However, this coal was pulverized by the companies themselves, being secured from the coal companies in the form of sluck. At the present time the industry is the largest user of pulverized coal in the country, and was the first industry to utilize this material on a large scale.

Watching one of the giant rotary kilns in a plant suggests the idea of a huge blow torch in operation. Some of the kilns are 10 feet in diameter and 240 feet long. The powdered raw materials enter at one end, and as the kiln revolves they slowly make their way toward the lower end, through which the powdered coal enters. It is blown in under pressure through a pipe and ignites with a roar just inside the kiln. Frequently the flame shoots down the kiln for a distance of 20 feet. Of course the kilns are lined with fire bricks. Temperatures of from 2,500 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit are created and the raw materials are fused to a white-hot clinker. Pulverized coal is used instead of lump because it is the only suitable method of burning coal in the kilns. Much heat is lost from incomplete combustion when coarser material is used.

Burning of pulverized coal in the kilns has brought out the fact that fine grinding tends to shorten the flame and make it hotter. The coal is ground so fine that 55 per cent of a given quantity can pass through a sieve that is finer than a square inch, or a sieve that is finer than a silk handkerchief. The procedure is first to dry the coal in rotary driers, and then to pulverize it in special grinding mills.

Of course the fuel problems in the cement kilns are different from those of an ordinary power plant. The intense heat in the kilns is an advantage, for it is necessary in burning the raw materials. In power plants this great heat introduces difficulties. Demanding furnaces walls that will stand up under it. The apparatus used in burning powdered coal in the kiln is simpler than that demanded for burning the same material in a power plant, because special arrangements must be made for ash removal in the latter instance while ash offers no serious problem in the kiln as allowance can be made for it in the mix of the raw materials.

A survey of technical magazines shows that a number of power plants have been equipped with apparatus for the burning of powdered coal recently. Among them are the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company, at their Lake side plant; the Western Avenue station of the Puget Sound Power and Light Company; the Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation; the Chicago plant of the Illinois Malleable Iron Company and the River Rouge station of the Ford Motor Company. In other quarters the railroads have given considerable attention to the use of pulverized fuel, notably in South America, where a number of locomotives operating on the Railroad of Brazil burn powdered fuel that is ground from a coal containing about 30 per cent ash and 9 per cent sulphur.

Experiments with pulverized coal have shown that the advantages of its use are greater efficiency, less smoke and lowered costs of handling. The cost of grinding and the danger of explosion if the material is carelessly handled are the main drawbacks. However, the experience of the cement industry in using millions of tons of powdered fuel every year has proved that accidents due to coal dust explosions are avoidable.

It is interesting to note that extended developments with the use of pulverized coal would probably work out to the advantage of the domestic coal fields of the country. Widespread demand for fine coal would lead to a greater supply of lump material for the home user, and it is probable that this source of demand will be for lump sizes for years to come.

Although America has long been recognized as a country where thrift in fuel consumption is not widely practiced, people are beginning to take the fuel problem more seriously. The use of tank cars for transporting pulverized coal is quite within the realm of possibility. Engineering skill is constantly working out better and more efficient methods of fuel consumption. The trend of public utility plants to cut off for burning of powdered coal might have a very decided effect on coal mining practice. Already mines in the state of Washington are preparing pulverized coal. Twenty years from now, coal dust may be a very important industrial material.

A settlement over reparations. The author is an American business man who wants an economic conference but adds that it would be of no use if Germany were not held to guarantees which would make certain for France to be paid. The United States and Great Britain are asked to guarantee such payment if settled by the arbitration of these two nations. The writer should have saved himself the trouble. We are not in the business of guaranteeing anything any more—that time passed with the Wilson administration.

PRAISE
Just speak it out when you've a kindly thought.
Don't let it die unspoken. Give it voice!
Don't stand in silence, wondering if you ought
To praise another. Let his heart rejoice.

Has someone pleased you, quickly tell him so.
Be not afraid of criticism, wise who know.
He will be braver who has cause to know
That one with faith in him is standing near.

Be not afraid of friendship's kindly ways.
"Do not build back the words, which love suggests."
All men are happier for another's praise.
Lest is the joy we lock within our breasts.

Now is your chance to set his eyes aglow.
To strengthen him who may be growing weak.
Have you enjoyed his friendship? Tell him so.
Tomorrow it may be too late to speak.

A TRUE FAIRY STORY.

Once upon a time there was a very beautiful lady who had three suitors for her hand. Not being sure which she loved best, she told them all to leave her for a year and then to return, promising that he who brought her the most desirable present should have her hand.
When the time had elapsed, the first man brought her much fine gold, the second offered to share with her the fame which he had won on the field of battle, and the third said: "Dearest, I have nothing to offer but my love!" She married the first man without further ado and they lived happily ever after.—James T. Zweighaft.

People laugh until they rear
When young Cupid plays his tricks;
Join a wife who's six feet four
To a husband four feet six.
But it's not so strange, you know,
Do not smile at her escort;
In these days of style and show
Nearly every husband's "short."

We do not believe we will ever be able to take any interest in lady pugilists, although we are assured they will be quite in vogue in the immediate future. Many are in training and many have appeared in the ring getting, nearly no doubt, to demonstrate the much heard of equality of the sexes. In this connection, a reader of this pillar of polygynous has written in and will be possible to designate favorite boxers, what names can be possible for them. Nothing is simpler. We expect in a year or two to hear of:

Who's Who Today

CAPT. HERBERT HARTLEY.

Captain Herbert Hartley, one of the youngest transatlantic commanders, with a distinguished war record, will command the Lehigh when the great ship, the largest flying the American flag, goes into commission.
Announcement of his appointment was made recently by W. J. Love, General Manager of the United States Shipping Board.

Captain Hartley, who is 43 years old, will go to Norfolk at once to familiarize himself with his ship, so that when she starts on her first crossing in June he will know her from truck to keel.
Captain Hartley gained distinction as commander of American passenger troop ships during the war. He was the first cadet of the American Line service to rise to the position of commander, having taken the place of Commodore John C. Jamison as commander of the St. Louis in January, 1917, when Jamison was taken ill. He brought his ship in and docked her so safely that he earned the commendations of the line officials.

For some time after this country entered the war Captain Hartley stayed on the St. Louis, and then for a time was in command of the transport Louisville.
He began his career twenty-eight years ago as a cadet aboard the training ship Sagamore. Shortly afterward he joined the St. Louis and served on her almost continuously, until he was promoted to command. While he was chief officer he was married to Miss Charlotte Adler of Jersey City, whom he courted for six years by wireless. After their marriage and until war conditions made it dangerous, he sent a daily message to his wife and daughter in Jersey City.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

March 7, 1883.—The Rifles' army was crowded last night with more people than have ever been in it before, the occasion being the Easter Monday dance of the St. Patrick's T. A. and E. society.—The Janesville Driving park association was organized last night and will start work at once to bring a trotting meet here in June.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

March 27, 1893.—The kindergarten fete by First graders of the city in the past seven months that the work has been done will be on exhibition at a North Main street store this week-end.—Four drunks in court this morning all pleaded guilty and were given terms of five and 30 days.—West side firemen are asking for a sleeping place.

March 27, 1903.—Janesville has an independent telephone line to Rockford if present plans carry out. It is reported that there are many ducks at Koshong and that some are violating the laws by shooting them.—Master of but one play, the senior high school class this year is to give three plays, all on the same evening. Mrs. J. E. Dwyer will coach.

TEN YEARS AGO

March 27, 1913.—In response to the call from the Ohio flood sufferers, mainly in Dayton, the Janesville Gazette has started a relief fund and has already sent several hundred dollars to Gov. James M. Cox. It is said the death list may reach as high as 10,000 and the fires have now stopped but waters continue to rise.—Brotherhood of five different churches had a banquet last night.

OLD DOC SALVE

This is the last of a series of articles describing the thin in the medicine cupboard and how or why to use them. At the outset I warned readers that we could supply no copies of these articles; nevertheless the number of requests for back copies of the number of articles in the series. Those who have not preserved all the articles in the old scrapbook may call in a good doctor. I consider I have done my full duty, and must spill the beans for all I know, yet, by presenting in this way a practical home doctor book, in installments, for nothing more and nothing less, it will take some time to learn whether I have spilled the beans.

The Old Doc Salve I suggest for the medicine cupboard is no invention of mine. I frankly confess, indeed, I'll never use it, but I shall be glad to pass it on to you. I got it, I got it, I got it, from a traveling drug drummer, one of those men who visit doctors at regular intervals. This drummer came to Janesville, and he brought with him one of his tribe that ever could get within telling distance of me. Jokingly he left a sample of the salve for nothing more and nothing less. I opened that grandma out her finger or something and—well, one thing and another compelled me to get more of that salve.

First, one of my rich relations would discover that it was the most wonderful thing for sunburn or mosquito bites or hives and then one of my poor patients would report that he had never seen anything heal so fast and take the life out of him like that old doctor's salve. Where the man got the idea that it was an old doctor's salve, I don't know, but we'll call it that.

Old Doc Salve

Zinc oxide ..... 30 grains
Boric acid ..... 20 grains
Oil of rosemary ..... 5 drops
Lanolin ..... 5 drams
Petroleum, enough to make 1 ounce, (preferably kept in a collapsible tube).

Of course this salve doesn't "heal" anything. No salve does. But it does save you money and keep you out of mischief while healing is going forward. And that's why I have given you this medicine cupboard.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Overcome sneezing? Sleep with mouth closed, but have considerable trouble with a low grade throat inflammation.

Answer.—Often a series of treatments of the nose and throat by a physician will improve the tone of the lining membrane and prevent the excessive relaxation in sleep which is responsible for sneezing.

Fluorid for Constipation. Kindly give again the directions for taking laxative for constipation.—S. G. S.

Answer.—One or two teaspoonfuls of whole flaxseed may be taken once a day, mixed with a cereal, or washed down with water, with benefit in some cases.

AT THE APOLLO.

Jack Hall is a comedian for the first time in "Nobody's Money," a Paramount picture now being seen at the Apollo, and the first of a number of Paramounts the Apollo will show. It is a light and entertaining, the type of picture most popular now.

Tolt plays the part of a poor book agent who falls into a scheme of two authors who were publishing libelous articles under a false name and gave the book-agent the name and character. He retraced the false statements about the governor when the times with him and falls in love with the daughter. Complications arise later when marked money is put in the game, thus clearing the governor but giving him a neat sum which the author did not demand.

Vanda Hawley plays opposite this popular male star, and Julia Faye and others, often seen in pictures, have important parts. A good Lloyd Hamilton comedy is seen in connection. The bill will remain through Thursday.

170 New Members Taken in J. B. A. to Boost State Meet

NOW NUMBER 277; MEET WEDNESDAY ON CITY TOURNEY

One hundred and 70 new members have been taken in by the Janesville Bowling Association since the bowlers' banquet two weeks ago. This was announced today by Dr. F. Richards, secretary of the association.

The increase has been 170 new members. This is said to put the association on the strongest basis it has ever been in its history.

Three Clubs 100 Per Cent.

The additions have come through the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs. Each of these organizations has given over the top 100 per cent in bowling up with the parent body of Janesville bowling.

Other clubs are still to be heard from in the campaign to increase membership in the association to 1,000 before the state tournament, which is to be held here for 15 years in February and March of next year. Officials are confident that when other organizations learn of the manner in which these three clubs have come across in boosting the association's efforts to prepare in a big way for 1934, they, too, will enlist their members 100 per cent for bowling.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

FOR THE LAST few years, the northern sections of the state have been boasting that their high school basketball teams are of the strongest caliber. They are now disputed with the victors of University high school of Madison in taking first place and the championship in the state prep school basketball tournament. The tide has changed and southern Wisconsin is back in the running.

THE NORTHERNERS had better look to their laurels. This locality, in which we rightfully include Madison, has had the teams. It had them in football, had teams that would have made them the northwestern champion in competition. Southern Wisconsin showed itself last year in the state track and field meet and is going to repeat this coming season.

THE BADGER prep carried the honors at the Brodhead district basketball tournament. It is interesting to make a few comparisons on some of the games. Evansville, which lost out at the Whitewater normal meet by a peculiar twist of fortune lost its only game of the season to University high, 23 to 14. Previously in the year, Evansville, trounced University high, 36 to 13, showing, if anything, that the Madison school had grown steadily stronger during the season. It shows well for southern Wisconsin teams.

AT THE BRODHEAD meet, University high took the district laurels by defeating Oregon, 27 to 20. The Wisconsin university school went into the finals by defeating Monticello in the semifinals, 23 to 8. For a matter of comparison, Oregon defeated Monticello at the Milton college tournament, 14 to 11, illustrating that University's strength was well shown at Brodhead and that it was over Oregon was well deserved.

NOW, as a matter of further figuring, let us take it this way. University high won the state title by defeating Oshkosh, 25 to 13. Remember, University trimmed Oregon only 17 to 20. It is evident, therefore, that may now be drawn, therefore, is that Oregon held University high better than did Oshkosh. It thus shows again that southern Wisconsin put forth some of the strongest squads in the state this year.

Rockford high invited to participate in national intercollegiate basketball meet at University of Chicago.

Scraps About Scrappers—Floyd Johnson of Iowa knocked out Ray Thompson of New York at Boston in 20 seconds. Jack Bloomfield, English, lightweight, beats Soldier Jones, Canadian champion, at London. Tom Gibbons, St. Paul, First Instruction in the high school will be given by Mr. Bergman, in conjunction with Rollin Gridley, after the Easter vacation.

Leagues are also planned in the grade schools of the city. The Janesville Soccer club is ready to present a trophy to be awarded the winning team.

Games are to be played at the fair grounds as soon as weather opens up. They will be continued in the fall.

Soccer is to be introduced into the junior gymnasium classes at the Y. M. C. A. to decide the class champions. The Grizzly Bears and the Brown Bears are leading.

M. MacDowell, Cleveland, hits 2,003 in all events for world's record at A. B. C. bowling meet.

Vincent Richards may play in English tennis meet at Wimbledon.

Training Camp Chatter—Ward double play in first inning started Chicago Cubs on double play early in game won from San Francisco at St. Louis, 5-3, with Stanford pitching full route. Cold weather prevents Giants-Sox game Monday. Captain Holcher, Cub shortstop, enroute to home in St. Louis Tuesday to recuperate from slight illness but is expected to rejoin Cubs Apr. 12 at Kansas City. The first of two games was played at Washington in the series, Washington meets Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla., Tuesday. Pittsburgh Nationals will play intra-league games each day this week except Sunday, when they meet Boston Americans for third pre-season game.

Pittsburgh Yankees win from regulars, 9-2. Clyde Barnhart joins Pirates and makes roster complete. Red Russell of Pirates has cold. Marvynville of Pirates knocked unconscious by batted ball. Manager Arthur Fletcher of Philadelphia Nationals first player elected from game this season, being chased from park by Umpire Holmes at Lakeland in game with Cleveland for too much talk. St. Louis Nationals beat Washington Americans, 11-7. Cincinnati Nationals beat Dayton, Fla., 12-5. Detroit Americans lost to Philadelphia Nationals, 7-2. Milwaukee Brewers beat Mobile, 5-2.

"YW" Celebrates Big Pin Season

Winding up a successful season, bowlers of the Young Women's Christian association banqueted in the "YW" rooms Monday night. Forty-four were present.

A rap for capturing the "YW" tournament was presented by Miss Jessie Allen, president of the athletic association, to the Lewis team. It was received by Miss Bertha Schram for the bowling team.

Miss Marion Hamlin, general secretary of the "YW", and Mrs. Sidney Hostwick, chairman of the recreation committee, were guests.

Another season is planned for next year.

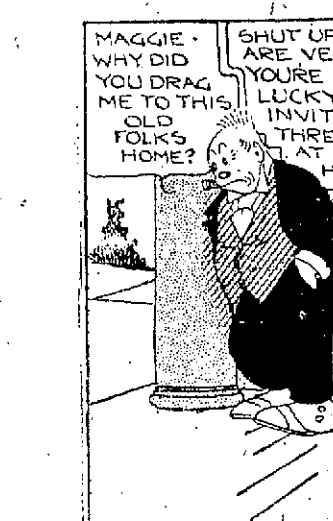

Local Elks Team Third in Tourney

"Doc" Sartell's team that rolled two weeks ago in the Elks state bowling tournament registered a check Tuesday morning for $18, ranking third in the good fellowship division. Nevada McCarthy of the same squad same division. The team of Dr. S. landed in 20th place in singles in the F. Richards rolled in the ability division, but failed to get in the money.
